Repeat from  across to turning chain, skip 1 ch, dc in third ch. Turn.

The blanket can be made in a solid color or can be made with any number of color changes. The best way to make a color change is to finish all but the very last pull through of the two loops of the last stitch of a row. Cut yarn with a few inches of tail and join with new color next to stitch. Pull new color through last two loops. Weave in ends.

Ripples of Happiness
By Angie from Le monde de Sucrette

The Ripples of Happiness afghan is just one of many simple crochet patterns that can be easily made with any combination of colors that you choose. Using a detailed chart is a helpful way to visualize the beautiful ripple effect.

Always make 3 tr in the last stitch of every row

Chain=31=(2x14)+3
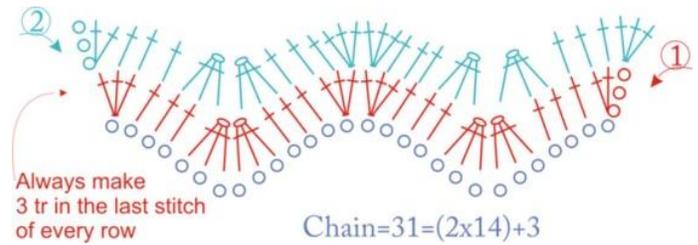

These are the first 2 rows…you continue with the others like for these first two…

and one last thing: Always remember to crochet 3 treble in the last stitch of every row…

INSTRUCTIONS:

First you have to make a chain multiple of 14 + 3… I advice you to make a small sample so you can try out the pattern and once you're confident about it you'll start with a longer chain for your future blanket to be…

So let's start with a small sample…. always always always let it be a multiple of 14 + 3… This is the magical formula! Here it is 31 (14×2 + 3 = 31)

Symbols

$\dagger$ = Treble crochet (U.K) - Bride (France)

$\bigvee$ = 3 st tr increase (U.K)
 3 brides crochetees dans la meme maille (France)

$\bigwedge$ = 3 st tr decrease (U.K)
 3 brides tirees ensemble (France)

o = chain (U.K) - maille en l'air (France)

Chevron and Zig-Zag Patterns

Green Granny Ripple Afghan

By Pradeepa from The Lazy Hobbyhopper

The Granny Ripple Afghan looks like a typical ripple afghan at a first glance. But in reality, this crochet afghan is made much like a granny square. By skipping chains and making clusters, you will achieve this ripple effect. The trick is to make the first row of chains one and a half times longer than the finished blanket will be.

Once you get started and go in the right direction granny ripples are fun to make, but getting started is what irks me a lot. The major problem here is deciding upon the number of chains to start with. Since you are not going to work in a straight pattern the length of the chains that you make at the beginning have to be somewhere around one and half times the length of the finished pattern. (I am saying this from my experience, but it may not be correct). So the safest bet is to make extra chains, you can always sew in the extra length of the chains instead of having to pull everything apart in case your work becomes shorter.

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. So to start with, make chains of length that you desire. Then in the 6th chain from the hook make 3 dc (cluster).

2. Skip 2 chains, in the next chain make another cluster (3 dc).

Find thousands of free tips, tutorials, projects and more at www.allfreecrochetafghanpatterns.com.

11

3. Skip 2 chains, in the next chain make one more cluster.

4. Skip 5 chains and make a cluster in the next chain.

5. Skip 2 chains, make a cluster in the next chain.

6. Skip 2 chains. Make a cluster, 3 chains and another cluster all into the next chain.

7. Skip 2 chains, make a cluster into the next chain.

8. Skip 2 chains, make a cluster into next chain.

9. Skip 5 chains, make a cluster into the next chain.

10. You have to repeat this pattern through the length of the chains. You can see the peak and the valley forming. You have to end this row in a peak (cluster + 3 chains + cluster).

Find thousands of free tips, tutorials, projects and more at www.allfreecrochetafghanpatterns.com.

11. Now make 5 chains and turn your work and make a cluster into the 3-chain space.

STARTING AND ENDING A ROW

1. In the above picture you can see that I have made 5 turning chains and made 3 dc (cluster) into the space between the two clusters in the previous row.

2. Into the next space make another dc cluster. Into the next space one more cluster.

3. Into the next space one more cluster.

4. Skip the next space which forms a valley and make a cluster into the next one.

Find thousands of free tips, tutorials, projects and more at www.allfreecrochetafghanpatterns.com.

13

5. A cluster into the next space. Then a cluster, 3 ch, a cluster into the next space where the peak is formed. Continue the pattern until the end of the row.

6. At the end of the 2nd row make a cluster, 3 ch, cluster into the 5-ch turning space. (Remember I told you earlier make pattern such that you end with a peak).

7. For row 3 repeat from step 10 until the end of row. In the picture below you can see that I have come to the end of row 3.

8. You can see below that I have made a cluster, 3 ch, cluster all into the 5-ch turning space. Make 5 chains and turn your work and repeat the pattern.

9. The below picture shows the end of row 4.

10. And end of row 5.

Find thousands of free tips, tutorials, projects and more at www.allfreecrochetafghanpatterns.com.

Now you can see the edges of the pattern evolving. You have to repeat this pattern all along.

As I have told you at the beginning of the tutorial it is always safe to make extra chains at the start of the pattern so that you can ensure that you have adequate chains to make the required length of the pattern and that you end with a peak. You can sew in the extra chains. In case you do not want to have extra chains an anonymous reader has commented that you have to make chains of multiples of 18+5. You can give it a try.
